Narrator: One day an Angel was sent down from Heaven to find the most important job on earth.

Angel: Oh dear, where will I begin, I’m sure there are lots of important jobs on earth.

Narrator: The Angel travelled all over the place and eventually found a very busy place, where there were lots of people working in Yellow Hats.

Angel: Hello there, you look very busy can I ask you what you are doing?

Bob: I’m Bob the Builder, and together with my friends we fix things.

Angel: Well that’s good, you are all helping people by fixing things.

Narrator: The Angel was very impressed by Bob and his friends’ hard work, but as she went on down the road she saw someone else, wearing a very bright coat and a big bag.

Angel: Hello! That bag looks very big and heavy; can I ask what you are doing?

Pat: Well I am delivering letters and parcels, my name is Pat and I’m a Postman.

Narrator: The Angel was amazed, she had found two very important jobs and wondered how many more important jobs she would find...
Angel: Hello!! (she shouted, so as to be heard about the music) you are a very fit person, who are you?

Sportacus: My name is Sportacus, I like to exercise and eat lots of sports candy so as my body is fit and healthy.

Angel: Well done, that’s a good idea it’s important to keep fit and healthy.

Narrator: Again the Angel was impressed, God tells us that our body is a temple so the Angel decided that Sportacus was also doing a very important job. She add it to her list.

Angel: What could that be, more hard hats, what are they doing I wonder!!

(The Angels should walks over and taps one of the people on the shoulder.)

Angel: Hello there, what are you doing can I ask?

Sam: Hello, we are fireman and we are putting out this fire so as all the people stay safe.

Angel: Very good, I never saw a fireman before.

Narrator: Another important job, the Angel added it to the list.

Angel: Well I think that’s enough now I have 1, 2, 3, 4 important jobs.
  • Bob the Builder- helping to fix things.
  • Postman Pat- delivering letters and parcels.
  • Sportacus- helping people stay fit and healthy.
  • Fireman Sam- putting out fires to keep people safe.

Narrator: Just then the Angel saw a group of children in bright red jumpers; they were singing and clapping their hands.

Angel: I wonder what they are doing...

(The Angel goes over to speak to the children.)

Angel: Hello girls, what are you doing?

Explorers: We are Explorers and we are learning our GB motto.

(The Angel looks puzzled)

Angel: What is a motto?

Explorers: Well a motto is like a rule to live by.

Angel: Okay, so what is your motto?

Explorers: To Seek, Serve and Follow Christ.

Angel: Of that’s a brilliant motto, that you girls you have helped me to find the most important job on earth.

Narrator: The Angel returned to Heaven and shared with all the others, her adventure on earth. Everyone was agreed that the most important job on earth was to seek Christ, to serve Christ and to Follow Christ. They thought all the other jobs were important too but by far the most important one is the job we do for Jesus.
